Commencement Week At Mount Hermon Ends This Saturday

Mount Hermon School's commencement week opened Sunday morning, May 21, when Dr. William E. Park, acting headmaster of the school and president of the Northfield Schools, preached the Baccalaureate sermon before a large congregation of seniors, underclassmen, faculty and friends in Memorial Chapel. Class Day exercises and the awarding of prizes took place Sunday afternoon and the day's activities concluded with Communion in the evening.

The full week of graduation events will end Saturday when 105 seniors are granted diplomas at the Commencement Exercises. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean emeritus of Yale Divinity School, will deliver the address.

Dr. Park in his Baccalaureate sermon said that the greatest danger confronting us today is that we will fall prey to the mood of sadness, disillusionment, cynicism, hopelessness, and frustration which is all around us. It is discouraging, he admitted, to live in a world torn apart by war and strife and to contemplate the tremendous problems we shall have to face when the war is over. "God did not intend the world to be a paradise where men and women could live in a state of continual bliss. Rather he placed us in a world full of tribulation where we must struggle and work and hope. The days ahead of all of us are not going to be easy, but if we are willing to courageously accept the challenge they present, we will triumph."

The annual interscholastic track meet was held at Mount Hermon last Saturday when Hermon again carried off the honors with a lead of 13 points. Ten schools were represented. The Senior class banquet was held Thursday evening and today, Friday, is the baseball game with Deerfield and the faculty reception and senior dance in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Alexander of Springfield are with Mrs. Leila M. Allen at her home on Main Street.

GOODNOW PEARSON & HUNT

BRATTLEBORO

Returning from his day's toil to his happy little home, father greeted his family.

"What have you all been doing today?" he asked.

"I washed the dinner things," said Ann proudly.

"And I wiped them!" exclaimed Sheila, just as proudly.

Father turned to his only son. "And you, John?"

"I picked up the pieces," was the brief reply.

Miss Agnes Davis, who has been a guest at the Northfield Hotel, has gone to the Turners Tavern at Bethlehem, N. H. for the summer.

About Rationing Did You Know That:

Periodic inspections of tires on passenger automobiles are discontinued in Massachusetts, but motorists must continue to have inspected any tire they need to replace. Tire inspection records must be kept, however, because the boards will continue to use them in the gasoline rationing program. Consumers in a position to buy rationed meat from farmers may use the 18 red stamps following those valid for purchases in stores. Farmers should turn in these stamps so received to their local Rationing Board.

Victory gardeners may again receive special allotments of gasoline this summer, to cultivate a garden of an area at least 1500 square feet, which the owner must visit twice weekly. The maximum allowance for the season of six months is 300 miles, and may not be given to owners of week-end cottages or summer homes unless their round trip mileage is within six miles. Application may be made on the special form.

Price Ceiling News

If you are in doubt about top legal prices, consult the price clerk at your local rationing board. When buying, watch your ceiling prices, check with the OPA prices posted in all the stores, and refuse to pay more than the posted prices for that type of store. You can help hold local prices at or below ceilings, stamp out black markets and keep the lid on the cost of living by refusing to pay more than legal prices.

You can help the price panel by reporting to the price panel if you are overcharged, and the panel members will try to adjust complaints, by consumer, or retailer according to regulations. With the cooperation of the public, the black market problem and the tendency to over-ceiling prices in many instances have been markedly reduced. Let us all do our share in reducing it still further.

The Northfield price panel meets each Thursday evening in the Town Hall.

Tires And Tubes Rationed

The following applicants were granted tires and tubes by the Northfield Rationing Board in April:

Grade I tires: William Walker 1, Winfred Whitaker 1, Herbert Wing 1, Katherine White 1, Willard Morey 1, Winfred Snow 2, Helen Thompson 1, Fred Akdrich 1, Robert Gibson 1, Fayette Bacon 1, Roger Billings 1, William Summers 1, Josephine Jackson 1, Edward Krause 1, Albert Rice 1.

Grade III tires: Kenneth Miller 1, Winfred Whitaker 1, Herbert Wing 1, Katherine White 1, Willard Morey 1, Joseph Rawson 1, Helen Thompson 2, Winfred Snow 2, Robert Gibson 1, Roger Billings 1, Stanley Gorzocski 1, Estella Sprague 1, Donald Hayes 1, Alfred Holton 1.

Truck tires: Clession Field 1, Horace Bolton 2, The Northfield Schools 1, Myron Dwight 1.

Truck tubes: Horace Bolton 2, George Sheldon 6.

Used truck tires: George Sheldon 6, James Holloway 1. New regulations now permit holders of "A" books only to be eligible for a Grade III tire, providing they first locate a used tire of the size needed. Formerly no car owner holding only an "A" ration could obtain any grade tire. Eligibility for a Grade I tire has also broadened.

Weedless Garden Easy if You Never Let Them Grow

Use Sharp Tools to Kill Weeds When They Are Tiny.

Cultivating the Victory garden should start as soon as the young plants begin to grow in the garden rows.

At this stage, if the soil between the rows is stirred, it will be found to be full of tiny white sprouts, which are weeds, beginning to develop.

One easy stroke of a sharp hoe will destroy scores of them before they have begun to compete with the vegetable plants for available plant food and water. As long as weeds are killed in infancy, cultivation will be easy, but once they are allowed to begin substantial growth, not only do crops suffer, but work will increase, and the care of the garden may become a chore.

When tools are kept sharp and cultivation never neglected, it calls for no more physical exertion than wielding a broom. Modern advice is to take it easy and never stir the ground deeper than one inch. This is sufficient to kill young weeds, without disturbing the roots of the vegetable plants. It also breaks the soil crust, and allows air and water to penetrate readily.

Deep cultivation will dry out the soil, and may disturb the surface roots of your vegetable plants, which may do more harm than the cultivation does good.

Besides destroying weeds in the space between rows, those which grow in the row itself must be pulled when tiny. This requires hand work, and is always tedious, but if attended to promptly it takes little time, and once the vegetables have become well established, hand weeding will be unnecessary.
